Innovation, speed, safety and reliability are all values that Aruba shares with Ducati Corse, and have been the common ground for a partnership that has been growing year by year. Aruba is proud to be able to put its brand alongside that of the Ducati Corse team, that each year sees hundreds of technicians and professionals involved with passion in sports activities around the world.

Aruba and Ducati Corse is a duo that keeps consolidating with the MotoGP World Championship and in the Superbike World Championship with the Aruba.it Racing – Ducati team. that on the 12th February 2020 will renew a synergy that it is now in its sixth consecutive year.

The 2020 MotoGP season for the Ducati Team has officially begun with their team presentation at Palazzo Re Enzo last week in Bologna, on the 23rd January. Now we are all waiting to see Andrea Dovizioso and Danilo Petrucci hitting the track again for what promises to be a new exciting MotoGP season full of adrenaline.

“The bond between Ducati and Aruba continues and strengthens in 2020” declared Luigi Dall’Igna Ducati Corse General Manager. “Our collaboration with Aruba, an Italian company leader in its field goes from the joint programs linked to our IT infrastructure in Borgo Panigale, to the racing tracks. In this great moment of transformation and attention to innovation, it’s even more important to have a close collaboration with a strategic partner such as Aruba”.

“We are delighted to strengthen our partnership with Ducati in MotoGP. This will develop synergies and our collaboration on all sides from the Superbike the MotoGP circuits to the technological circuits and in our IT projects. The presence of the Aruba.it logo on Dovizioso’s and Petrucci’s leather suits, as well as on the windshields of their bikes underlines a bond that has lasted six years with mutual satisfaction, and that has enabled the two Italian companies to achieve prestigious results” said Stefano Cecconi, CEO of Aruba and Aruba.it Racing – Ducati Team Principal.
